1. Our vision and mission

The IAHR Vienna Young Professionals Network consists mainly of students and former students of Civil Engineering and Water Management at the University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences Vienna. Due to the different objectives that many of our members follow during their studies, we also address different topics in our network and try to stay open to new ideas and inputs. Our objective is to stay informed on new developments on research topics and encourage our members to widen their views on the different topics that some of us have gained experience or deeper knowledge in. Also, we want to provide a sort of platform for members to contribute and share their own ideas and inputs.
